J. B. GRAY BURIED TODAY

Minco, Okla., Man, Former Maryville Resident, Honored by Citizens.

The funeral of James B. Gray, who died Thursday in Minco, Okla., of acute dilation of the heart, took place at 10 o'clock this morning from the funeral parlor of the Maryville Furniture company. The Rev. William Moll Case preached the funeral service.

The pall bearers were: J. B. Robinson, F. P. Robinson, W. C. Pierce, H. F. Leet, A. T. Clark, T. L. Wilderman, Berney Harris and W. A. Blagg. A quartet composed of Mrs. F. P. Robinson, Mrs. J. E. Bailey, H. J. Becker and W. E. Goforth furnished the music.

Mr. Gray was born in Galesburg, Ill., in 1830. He came to Missouri in 1868 and had been in Maryville since 1881, until the last year, when he went to Minco to live on a farm there. He leaves six children: Mrs. Alice Watson, Washington, D. C.; J. W. Billings, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Guy Gray, near Maryville, and Mrs. Clay Oliver, Rapid City, S. Dak.

Mrs. Fouch, Mrs. Liever and Mrs. O. E. Ornburn and son of Moberly, a granddaughter and great-grandson of Mr. Gray, attended the funeral.

DAVIS TO TALK HERE

HARMONY'S PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT M. E. CHURCH SUNDAY.

PROMINENT CHURCHMAN

Editor, Conference President and Fraternal Delegate to Preach in Maryville Tomorrow Night.

Dr. Lyman E. Davis of Pittsburgh, Pa., who will make the principal address at the Harmony Homecoming tomorrow, will speak at the First Methodist church here tomorrow evening.

Dr. Davis was sent by the Methodist Protestant churches as Fraternal Messenger to the Methodist Episcopal General Conference which was held at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., last month and which the Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of the First Methodist church, here, attended.

Mr. Davis holds the highest office that can be held in the Methodist Protestant churches. He is president of the Methodist Protestant National organization.

He is also the editor of the church paper, "The Methodist Recorder," which is published at Pittsburgh.

The Rev. C. R. Green, pastor of the Harmony church, has extended an invitation to all the citizens of Maryville to attend the Homecoming tomorrow.

During the last week the orchestra and choir have been practicing and the music will be one of the features on the program. Advance reports are that the dinner is ready also.

GETS FAMOUS FILM VERDUN RAGES ON

"DAMAGED GOODS" AT EMPIRE NEXT FRIDAY

HAS 'SEX EVILS' PROBLEMS 3 BIG STEAMERS DOWN

Photoplay Handles Situation Frankly and Has Created Much Comment.

The great film, "Damaged Goods," which Albert Kuchs, manager of the Empire Theatre, has been trying to secure for several months, will be shown here next Friday. As the following synopsis will show, the photoplay does not mince matters in presenting one of the great problems of modern life.

George Dupont, always a hard working student, graduates with high honors and returns to the home of his wealthy mother, a widow, to take up the practice of law. Simple in tastes, handsome, good hearted and above all wealthy, Dupont becomes the prey of several unscrupulous women, one of whom, Mrs. James Forsythe, an evil intentioned young married woman, soon causes his first false step. Shortly after Dupont becomes involved with a seamstress, and his mother and aunt plan his early marriage to Henriette Locke, daughter of a prominent political representative of their home state.

Some weeks before his marriage, Dupont's bachelor friends give him a dinner, which results in him spending a night in the company of a notorious girl of the streets. On his way home some days later, Dupont passes a deformed, diseased and twisted beggar, whom he recognizes as a former classmate and one time famous football star. Investigating, he learns that his former friend's predicament is the outcome of a loathsome disease contracted during a life of immorality. George is seized with dread lest he may have contracted the same disorder. Hurrying to a near-by book store, Dupont purchases a book on the subject, and comparing the symptoms set forth in the book with those he has been aware of for several days, realizes that his one night of pleasure has ended as he little thought it would.

Dupont, intent on suicide, goes to the park, where he is rescued in the nick of time by the very girl of the streets responsible for his present predicament. She is becoming regenerated, however, under the care of a famous specialist, by whom she is employed as a nurse. She tells Dupont that there is hope for him, too, if he will visit the specialist and follow his instructions. Dupont does so. To impress upon him the seriousness of the disease and how necessary it is for him to follow his instructions if he desires a positive recovery, the specialist takes him on a tour of a hospital and insane asylum, where those afflicted with the disease are the only inmates. Dupont promises to follow the instructions of the specialist. Later, he becomes prey of a quack doctor, who, on the payment of a large sum of money, promises to cure him within three months.

Two months later, Dupont, satisfied that he has been cured, marries the daughter of the senator, without first consulting the specialist. Later, when their child is born, the horrible disease becomes evident. A physician who is called informs Dupont that the only man able to cure the child is the specialist whom he consulted. Dupont realizes that the quack had deceived him. His wife, he learns, had become infected as well. Overcome by grief at her husband's confession, the young wife, with her baby, returns to her father's home, and the senator, smarting under the disgrace to follow and desirous of revenge on his daughter and her child, goes to Dupont's home intent upon killing him. But Dupont, realizing that there is no place in the world for him under the circumstances and dreading the slow and painful death the disease carries with it, goes out of the house and the play closes with him contemplating the end. The actual conclusion of Dupont's career remains a mystery.

HELP APPEAL CONTINUES

FEDERAL CHURCH COUNCIL ISSUES SECOND MESSAGE.

First Relief Way Only Intended as Beginning, Not as Final Effort.

A second message to the churches:

The response to the war relief message of the Federal Council has been immediate and promising. The movement has received the warm approval of the constituent denominations of the Council recently assembled.

Please bear in mind that this is a continuous campaign until all of our people have been reached, and so long as the suffering in Europe continues its appeal to us.

We earnestly offer the following suggestions:

1. Appoint a committee of your church to develop a continuous interest in the movement.
2. Consult with other pastors and laymen and secure the appointment of a community committee for continuous service.
3. Make special appeals in behalf of the suffering children of Europe to the Sunday school children, the young people, and the day school children.
4. Organize interest through other groups and organizations in the church and in the community.
5. Give one immediate special Sunday to a presentation of this great cause, unless you have already done so, and in this connection we would suggest Citizenship Sunday, July 2, as a suitable opportunity.
6. Interview people of means for substantial contributions.

Correspondence directly from Europe and through the war relief organizations indicates that the needs of our brothers and sisters are constantly increasing, and we shall soon issue another statement both of these needs and of the response to the Federal Council message.

The original message, which has been found very effective in distribution, may be obtained at the cost of printing ($5.00 per hundred), and we earnestly advise pastors and committees to distribute it in their various communities.

No united movement of the churches has met with more immediate sympathy and no movement would be more far-reaching in moral and spiritual influence than this united effort of our Christian churches to extend a hand of Christian love and sympathy to the peoples across the sea.

For the Federal Council,
(Signed) Shailer Mathews.

President.

NORMAL BASEBALL BEGINS

Egley's Team Defeats Howery Nine Yesterday, 4-2—Another Team to Be Organized.

The Normal baseball tournament began yesterday afternoon with the teams of Loren Egley and Jim Howery clashing in the first game. Another team will be organized Monday. The Howery team was leading 4-2 up to the ninth. Captain Egley and Hise, who is on Egley's team, remembered that they were members of the unbeatable high school team, and therefore they considered it impossible to lose. So they "peppered" up, and pushed three runs across and winning the game, 5-4.

These tournament games will be played every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4:15. The same two teams will play again Monday.

The batteries were: Long and Egley; Simmons and Howery.

POLITICAL NOTES

(Democratic Press Bureau)
The propaganda for war with Mexico is still circulating numerous falsehoods relative to the situation along the border and in Mexico. The promoters of this propaganda have resurrected the old hoary lie about the Mexicans having the notion that we're afraid to fight; also the old one about a Mexico-Japanese alliance and the probability of a large Japanese army landing in Mexico and sweeping into and across this country. This is too silly to deceive a half wit, but of course the object is twofold—to arouse the people in favor of war with Mexico and to discredit President Wilson. That it is all absurd shows the desperation of those who are for "anything to beat Wilson."

Democratic prosperity has successfully flanked the propaganda for higher railroad rates, and the people of Missouri are still favored with the 2-cent passenger rate, a Democratic law. Peace and prosperity has convinced railroad managers that attention to business and not a raise in rates was what was needed.

For almost two years Wilson has maintained peace with honor while the world's greatest cataclysm has raged and engulfed all the great nations. Hungry politicians may be willing to take a hazard of a change, but the people have no such notion. They like the Wilson way.

Somebody has figured up and found that in his speech to the St. Louis City club T. R. referred to himself eighty-three times. The only true American living has a right to thus emphasize himself. There's nothing else under the sun worthy of notice. This estimate of the colonel may not reach his own estimate of himself, but it's the best we can do at this writing.

It is now Justice Brandeis. Every Democratic and several western Republican senators voted for confirmation of the appointment of the "people's lawyer," after the standpatters and their cowardly helpers had delayed the matter for five months. The appointment of Brandeis and the insistence upon confirmation by President Wilson shows that the president is in close sympathy with the masses instead of the classes. Another reason why he'll win in November.

HARVARD'S LOVE OF DRAMA.

Over $20,000 Spent by Students For Tickets Last Year.

Cambridge, Mass.—During the theatrical season now closing Harvard students have paid between $20,000 and $25,000 to support the drama in all its forms, according to N. R. O'Hara, a graduate student with a fondness for statistics, who has visited the box offices of the principal theaters. Musical comedy, he finds, has the greatest following in the student body.

The down front seats, retelling at $2, have a steady sale at Harvard. Next to musical comedy, farce and the straight drama fight it out for second place. The average Harvard student, O'Hara says, sees at least five theatrical performances a year, at an average of $1 a ticket. The movies are not counted in.

COSTLY TO STEAL POLICEMAN

Fined $5 and Costs and Sentenced to Six Months For Taking Cop.

Lafayette, Ind.—A policeman in good working order here is worth $250, that and nothing more. In fact, they come so close to being a gratuity that to steal one and be caught means only the facing of a petit larceny charge.

Party De Vault was arraigned before Judge Press the other day for the abduction of a traffic policeman. The affidavit against him read in part as follows: "Party De Vault did then and there feloniously take and steal a policeman, the property of Al Meyers, then and there being of the value of $250."

De Vault was fined $5 and costs and sentenced to six months at the state penal farm. The "policeman" he stole was an automobile decoration.

RUSH BRINGS NEW DISEASE.

Says "Angina of Effort" Is Prevalent Among Professional Men.

Philadelphia.—The rush of modern life has produced a new disease, greatly increasing in extent and especially prevalent among doctors, teachers, clergymen, editors and other men of affairs.

Dr. Oliver S. Haines, who announced the new ailment at the Hahnemann Medical college, calls it "angina of effort." In plainer English that means a sudden shooting pain under the breastbone because you are working too hard.

No connection with spring fever was hinted at. It comes from living too hard and sometimes from an "antagonistic attitude toward the problems of life." No happy go lucky person ever gets it.

FALLS ASLEEP ANY PLACE.

Slumbers In Street, on Wharf, Falls In. Saved, Snoozes In Cell.

Bayonne, N. J.—Roman Kowalski, twenty-six, of 145 Prospect avenue was found asleep recently in the street in front of his home. Passersby, believing him unconscious, had him hurried to Bayonne hospital, where doctors said he was in perfect health. He was taken home by friends.

Shortly thereafter police headquarters received a message that a man asleep at Packard's dock at the foot of East Twenty-eighth street had fallen into the bay. With long ropes he was rescued by Policeman Hunter. At police headquarters he was found to be Kowalski. He was put in a cell and fell fast asleep.

HAS ODD CAREER.

Woman at One Time Headed Six Living Generations.

HAD FIVE SONS IN CIVIL WAR.

While She Was Celebrating Her One Hundred and Fourth Birthday It Was Figured Out That Venerable Old Lady of Wisconsin Has 185 Descendants—Is Rugged and Enjoys Life.

Prairie du Chien, Wis.—Grandma Shrike is in her one hundred and fifth year, for she celebrated her one hundred and fourth birthday anniversary recently. She is a most remarkable woman in several respects. With the aid of a cane she is able to get about quite well, and she is always cheerful and happy. Up to a year ago she was able to read the newspapers, but her eyesight has failed fast since that time, and she is now able to recognize people only when they get within a few feet of her. She has a rugged constitution and is able to take care of three square meals a day and enjoy them.

At the birthday anniversary thirty-five of her relatives were present to do honor to the event, an event that is exceedingly rare.

While the circle were enjoying dinner it was figured out that this venerable old lady had 185 descendants living at the present time, as follows: Three sons, of which Sylvester Ault, aged eighty-three, of Oelwein, Ia., was present at the celebration and who declares that he is still a young man; forty-six grandchildren, ninety-two great-grandchildren, forty great-great-grandchildren and four great-great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Shrike herself was the mother of ten children, of which the three sons are all that are living of the first generation.

And what a wonderful family record is Grandma Shrike's—the head at one time of six living generations, all female, the only known instance of the kind in the United States. Death has removed only two of the links. The six generations are: Mrs. Lydia Shrike of Wyoming, Mrs. Margaret Elder (deceased), Mrs. Rachel Goff (deceased), Mrs. Malissa Spaulding of California, Mrs. Cora Guley of California, baby Agnes Guley of California. They all used to live at Wyalusing.

Grandma Lydia Thomas Ault-Shrike was born in Connellsville, Fayette county, Pa., and at the age of four moved with her parents to Coshocton, O., where at the age of eighteen she married William Ault in May, 1832. To them were born five children—Louisa, Sylvester, Margaret, Elias and William. Two of these sons, Sylvester and William Ault, served in the late civil war, the former in the Fifteenth Wisconsin and the latter in Company A, Thirty-first Wisconsin. In September, 1839, her husband died, and two years later she married Jacob Shrike. In 1844 they moved to Green county, Wis., and in 1850 to Wyalusing, their home ever since. To the last union were born five children—Jacob, of Bagley; Jane, David, Abner and George. Three of these sons served in the civil war, Jacob in Company A, Thirty-first Wisconsin; David in Company H, Wisconsin's Eagle regiment, and Abner in Company C, Forty-eighth Wisconsin. This makes five sons Grandma Shrike sent to the front in the dark days of the war, another remarkable thing to her credit and showing her patriotism. Her second husband, Mr. Shrike, who died in 1861, was also a soldier in the war of 1812.

HOME AFTER 21 YEARS.

Kansan, Long Thought Lost at Sea, Ends His Roaming.

Pratt, Kan.—Charles M. Short, who has been mourned as dead by his mother, Mrs. M. A. Annett of St. Joseph, Mo., has been found in this city and is alive and well.

Short tells a peculiar story of a roaming life, which he has at last decided to stop and go home to his mother. About twenty-one years ago Short left his home at Excelsior Springs, Mo., and started out for himself. He went to San Francisco, where he went on the seas as a sailor. He never wrote his mother, but a word to a cousin in Nebraska gave the information that he was a sailor on a certain boat. This boat was reported sunk, and there was no report of Short's name in the list of survivors.

His mother then mourned him for dead until recently a flash came over the wire from the cousin in Nebraska that Short had been found.

IT IS TO Laugh

One of the most amusing things about the coming of Harry H. Gardner were the misconceptions of what he was supposed to do in spite of all the papers of Maryville and the city publications have said about the work of the "Human Fly." Many, yes, very many, thought that he would be able to go right up the side of a brick wall which had no ledges or ridges.

Many spectators were actually agrieved when a rope was used in a part of the courthouse tower. "I thought that he was not to use any artificial means," said many. Gardner explained to the crowd thus: "The wind is too high and I know that you do not want to see me fall. Anyway if you do, I won't accommodate you."

The story was freely circulated that the "Fly" would carry a boy on his back up some of the buildings if one weighing less than sixty pounds should volunteer. Several small boys really came to the office of the Commercial club and asked for the privilege.

"Doleful Doldrums of Christian Cheer" was the way the subject of the Young People's Union meeting at the Presbyterian church tomorrow night was given in this paper yesterday. As far as some long-faced Christians are concerned the mistake might not be a mistake. The subject, however, should have been "Doleful Doldrums or Christian Cheer."

Also, there is a chance for two White House weddings in the next four years if Hughes is elected. What has the Democratic party to offer in that respect?

The man who sat down on the park bench was healthy. There was not a thing wrong with him.

A book fluttered in the breeze near his feet. He picked it up and discovered that it was a patent medicine almanac.

The man read the almanac from cover to cover.

One hour later, when the man arose from the bench, he was suffering from hardening of the arteries, fatal blood pressure, lumbago, tuberculosis, blood poisoning, Bright's disease, cancer of the stomach, rheumatism, palpitation of the heart, dropsy and scrofula—Louisville Post.

It was feared last Saturday that Hopkins people would go hungry for pie on Sunday as the "pie stretcher" at the Lewis restaurant as well as the one at the Morehouse restaurant was missing. A boy was sent post haste over town looking for them and after visiting nearly every business house in the city, he finally located both at the electric light plant, and if the bakers condensed their Sunday pies it wasn't the boy's fault. He also found the missing ingredient for the angel's food cake at the south lumber yard.—Hopkins Journal.

"M-maw's gone an' drowned all the kittens."

"Dear, dear! Now that's too bad!"

"Yep, an' she promised—boo-hoo—that I cud do it!"

Why Distilled Water Keeps Old Men Young

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A.B., M.A., M.D. (Johns Hopkins University)

Dr. L. L. Von Wedeskind, medical commander of the United States hospital ship Solace, has been making some most interesting investigations into the benefits to be derived from the use of water from which every vestige of mineral has been removed.

The discovery of the significance of high blood pressure and hardened arteries, and their treatment, are two great contributions of modern pathology to man's well being.

Overeating, excessive muscular and emotional strain, alcoholic and other dissipations have all in turn been blamed for these two terrors of old age.

In a series of observations of thousands of men in the navy between the ages of 40 and 60 years Dr. von Wedeskind found that there was neither a high blood pressure nor arteriosclerosis-limy-stiff blood tubes.

Of 70,000 men in the navy there was only one death last year from apoplexy.

There is in use in the American navy distilled—mineral and germ free—water. Its adoption was made necessary to prevent such water-born maladies as typhoid, dysentery, smallpox and other infectious diseases.

It occurred to Dr. von Wedeskind that while all water is a dissolvent of mineral and all other solid substances, that distilled water even more than any other water would dissolve and carry away these substances which accumulate by defective distribution and elimination of meats and other solids.

A safe blood pressure is often exceeded when too much solid food, table salt and other minerals are retained in the body.

If we drink copiously of water some of this is washed away.

If, however, we drink distilled water, with its utter absence of all mineral or solid things, there is, according to Dr. von Wedeskind's belief, every amount of solid substance is washed away.

At the age of 65 the men in the navy are veritable youths. There are some 70,000 sailors, and not one senile, fossilized derelict.

Each of them has a soft pulse and a low, healthful blood pressure. It is not due to fresh air, a regular diet, routine sleep, regular work, lack of worry and freedom from dissipation, but is, according to Dr. von Wedeskind, wholly the outcome of cooking and imbibing mineral-free, germfree, refuse-free water distilled fresh every day.

BLOAT DANGER NOW

MANY DEATHS REPORTED TO THE STATE BOARD.

WAYS TO SAVE CATTLE

Keep Them Off of Wet Clover and Put Charcoal in Fields for Them.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Columbia, Mo., June 17.—Dr. D. F. Luckey, state veterinarian, has issued a statement from the office of the Missouri board of agriculture in which he says the recent losses of cattle from bloating while on clover pasture have been quite extensive. The weather has been favorable for rank growth of all kinds of clover. The white variety seems to be responsible for the most of the trouble.

The danger is particularly great on damp, cool days when the clovers are fresh and palatable. Cattle are very apt to over-eat. The rumen (or paunch) becomes overloaded and the fermenting mass causes a rapid generation of gas.

The symptoms usually come on in a very short time. A cow may be in a dangerous condition within a half hour after eating heartily of the white or other clovers. Frequently the bloating is so intense as to produce death before any treatment can be given. The rumen becomes so distended with gas as to press forward on the lungs and make it impossible for the beast to inhale air, literally smothering to death.

The principal thing to do by way of prevention is to keep cattle off of rank clover pastures, especially early in the morning, after showers, or during damp, cool days. Such pastures must be used with great care at any time. It has been claimed that feeding dry wheat straw, or cured hay of any kind, will tend to prevent bloating when cattle are turned on clover pastures. There is no question but what this will help some but it cannot be counted on as a sure preventive of bloating. Some dry feed should certainly be given when cattle are pastured upon a rank growth of clover.

In addition to this a liberal quantity of freshly burned charcoal should be kept before the cattle. Burn a lot of charcoal every two or three days, powder it and add a little salt and leave it where cattle may lick it at will. There is practically no danger of overfeeding on charcoal, and this will help a lot in preventing bloat. Bear in mind that in some cases bloating will occur even when cattle are kept off the clover until noon, and there is no absolute means of prevention of bloat when cattle are permitted to graze on clover.

The curative treatment depends on the condition of the animal when found. In many cases, the animal is already dead. In other cases it is in a condition to die in a few minutes, and treatment must be administered promptly. In acute cases, there is no time for giving medicines by the mouth. The only successful treatment is to puncture the rumen and let the gas out. Unless this is done promptly, death may result. The trochar is the proper thing to use. The trochar should be cleaned and disinfected, as should the hair and skin where it is to be inserted. Use the necessary force and drive the trochar into the rumen on the left side and a place several inches forward and downward from the point of the hip where you find a drumlike condition. In many cases the trochar will not be available and there will be no time for cleaning and disinfection. If the animal's life is to be saved, something must be done right away. In such an emergency do not hesitate to use a pocket knife, or even a butcher knife. Let the gas out or the cow will die. If these crude instruments are to be used, the opening should be quite large. Use the big blade of the pocket knife, and then cut the hole just a little larger so that the gas may escape freely. This operation is not particularly dangerous and should not be delayed when the life of the cow is in danger.

NEW AID TO POLICE

Wireless Outfit Installed at New York Headquarters.

HAS A RADIUS OF 250 MILES.

Will Supplant Old System of Wigwagging—Special Motor Cycle Squad to Be Organized Shortly So That Messages May Be Rushed When Urgent.

New York.—A complete wireless outfit has just been installed at police headquarters. Announcement of it was recently made by H. C. Case, secretary to Police Commissioner Arthur Woods. The station has a sending radius of more than 250 miles. It was installed as an aid to the efforts Commissioner Woods is making along the lines of police preparedness.

The station has sent and received messages from Sandy Hook and from incoming and outgoing vessels and could, if necessary, communicate with the government station at Arlington, Va., near Washington.

Nearly 100 private wireless outfits scattered throughout the city have been listed by the police, and headquarters can get into communication with them at any hour of the day or night. A special motorcycle squad will be organized shortly so that in time of need messages could be borne swiftly from these private stations to any point in the city.

Sixteen men on the force, all of them formerly telegraphers, are working now under the direction of Sergeant Charles E. Pearce, himself the holder of a first grade commercial license as operator. When they receive their licenses in the wireless service they will then be used at headquarters and be ready also to go to any station where they may be wanted.

The wireless will supplant the old system of wigwagging, which was the only system of communication the police had to fall back on if the telephone and telegraph failed. By using tall buildings messages could thus be relayed in a comparatively short time to any part of the city.

Along with the preparation within the force itself the Citizens' Home Defense league has been recruited now to a strength of nearly 20,000 men. The members are organized in twenty companies of about a hundred men each and are drilled by their own officers under the direct supervision of the precinct captain. Their names are on cards kept by the captain, and they may be called out by him at any time. It is expected that they will supplement the regular police force in patrolling the city in times of danger.

Some trouble has been found to obtain suitable drill grounds for the league, vacant lots and public schools now being utilized.

NAIL IN MAN'S HEAD 50 YEARS

Works Out Through Roof of Mouth When Doctors Fail.

Dawson, Pa.—A fourpenny nail, after being nearly fifty years in the head of Fred Siebert, Jr., came out through the roof of his mouth recently. Mr. Siebert has suffered since he was seventeen years of age with constant headaches and, despite medical skill, nothing could be done for him. His headache ceased when the bit of iron emerged through the roof of his mouth.

When seventeen years old a piece of lumber fell on Siebert's head and caused an ugly wound. Later the wound healed and the head pains became frequent.

Clover Bloat Kills Cows.

Quite a few cows have died within the past two or three weeks in the vicinity of Hopkins by bloating on clover. Geo. McArthur, south of town, being the latest to report a loss, finding one of his best cows dead in his pasture. White clover is very luxuriant this season but as a rule it is the red clover that causes bloating in cattle.

RAVENWOOD GAZETTE.

Did Not Forget Mr. and Mrs. Ross.

S. P. Ross is now convinced that marriage is not a failure. Although he was rejoicing that he had escaped the usual rattle of tin cans, he is now convinced that it is bad policy to con on chickens before they are hatched in Missouri and especially in Ravenwood.

Last Thursday night quite late the Ravenwood band and about 100 citizens, old and young, marched to the S. P. Ross home in south Ravenwood and serenaded the home proper.

After the band boys had blown the rims off their horns, and the yells of the crowd, resembling that of the Republican convention at Chicago, and the boys shot all the cornice off the house with blank cartridges the new-lays appeared, a yell from the crowd rang out, Speech! Speech! but never a speech, for Simon was too frustrated to speech. After a moment he said, "Well, come in." After the usual routine of wishing Mr. and Mrs. Ross joy, happiness and prosperity, refreshments were served to seventy-one.

There is anything we have failed to mention, just ask Simon, for we think he has sufficiently recovered to answer all questions.

THE NEGLECTED GROOM.

How a Wedding Account Would Read if He Were Fairly Treated.

This kind of stuff goes every time it is pulled: "The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father. And truly she was a vision of girlish loveliness in her up to date quaint style gown of white silk veiled in tulle and embroidered in silver on the low cut, short sleeved corsage and flared skirt, walking length. Her flowers were two armfuls of long stemmed pansies," etc.

But this could be attempted but once: "To the strains of the well known Lohengrin 'Bridal Chorus' the groom entered the church holding on to his best man. Verily he was a regular god, a Greek god in beauty, and as he stepped proudly along, head up, eyes front, it was as though some martial hero of old advanced to receive his chaplet of laurel leaves."

"His pepto, flared knee trousers of black walla walla wool warp were visible only below the tails of his black walla walla wool coat. The spats on his fine Passamaquoddy kids were pale lavender. His necktie was a sunburst of color, and so immaculately white was his three ply standup collar that it dazzled. The cold gray lizard skin gloves he wore," etc.

The One and the Naught.

Oliver Wendell Holmes once sent two poetical letters to the "postoffice" of an Episcopal bazar at Pittsfield, Mass. In one of them the first stanza was:

Fair lady, whoe'er thou art,

And hush, oh, hush, thy beating heart.
The one thou lovest will be there.

On turning the "poor leaf" there was found a dollar bill, with some verses beginning:

If this is not a truthful letter.
This is the one (1) thou lovest well
And naught (0) can make thee love it better (10).

Truth and Trade

By Bishop Warren A. Candler
Chancellor of Emory University, Atlanta

When a seller and a buyer have made a trade, based on truth, both have obtained a benefit, and the community to which they belong has been benefited insofar as their interests affect the welfare of the community. Each has parted with that which the other needed, and in turn has obtained from his fellow-man what he himself needed. Honest exchanges, therefore, enhance values.

But trades based on untruth damage all concerned. They approach dangerously near to theft.

By advertising, buyers and sellers are brought together, and truthful advertising promotes the welfare of the commercial world; it is, in fact, a part of the wealth-producing forces of the world. But untruthful advertising is a fraud and the fosterer of fraud. It partakes of the nature of the crime of getting money, or goods, under false pretenses. The medium of advertising, whatever its nature, which lends its columns to such advertising, accepts a bribe to become accessory to the same crime.

It is a far-reaching reform proposed by the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World in the motto "Truth". Such a sentiment must act like a health-laden current in the trade winds. Its influence will extend far beyond the limits of advertising, and stimulate honesty in all the processes and transactions of commerce.

The patron saints of the commercial world ought not to be Ananias and Sapphira. Lying spirits cannot guide safely the merchantmen of the world. The argosies of trade must sail by the pole-star of truth. Otherwise they will be wrecked.

This is one of a series to Advertise Advertising, by the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World (headquarters, Indianapolis). Write for booklet, written for buyers like yourself. Every man or woman who buys any kind of commodities will find it profitable reading.

NEUTRALS' TASK.

Problems For Scandinavia Multiply as War Drags On.

HOPE IN NEW CONFERENCE.

Officials of Norway, Sweden and Denmark, however, feel that they have yet to deal with real crises of conflict—rumors of sinister intentions are active.

Copenhagen, Denmark.—Although no official statement has been made as to the detailed deliberations of the conference of Scandinavian premiers and foreign ministers recently held here, the meeting itself seems to have wrought a noticeable feeling of relief in the three neutral nations of the north, and there is without doubt just a little more confidence that these countries will be able to fight their way through the difficulties of the war without being drawn into the hostilities.

The position of the Scandinavian countries—Denmark, Norway and Sweden—has been more or less a delicate one ever since the war began. With each day that the fighting continues the problems of commerce and diplomacy multiply.

For almost two years each of the three countries has been dealing individually with the problems of war. There had been no thorough exchange of views since the gathering of the KING GUSTAVE OF SWEDEN.

Scandinavian kings at Malmö in December, 1914, when the neutrality of the north formally was proclaimed. There was perhaps just a little feeling of uneasiness, attributable to a lack of counsel, when King Gustave of Sweden suggested the conference which was recently held here.

Officials of the three governments feel that, difficult and complex as has been the situation in the past, they have yet to deal with the real crises of the war. It is realized here that before peace possibly can bring an end to hostilities the situation on one side or the other must be far more desperate than it is today.

Ever so often there spreads over Scandinavia the report that Germany intends eventually to "seize" Denmark. Of course these reports seldom get beyond word of mouth—travelers returning from Germany assure their friends they heard the news from reliable sources—and consequently they do not call for official or other denials.

On the other hand, there comes just as often from Sweden or Norway the report that England, with a prolonged stress of war, would eventually shut off all supplies from the Scandinavian countries as the one sure method of stopping "leaks" to Germany and Austria. England has trade agreements with Norway and Denmark, however, which seem to be working in a satisfactory manner.

The wholly unauthenticated rumors as to the sinister intentions of the opposing belligerents are set aside, of course, as worthless. They would be completely dismissed if it were not for the ever increasing fear that there may be two or three years more of fighting. The complications that these years would bring about, the effect of the long drawn out struggle upon the belligerents and the constant encroachments upon neutral rights are looked forward to with anything but quietude.

In connection with the conference the general feeling here was that Swedish sentiment favored a more aggressive attitude by the northern states toward the belligerents. This tendency in Sweden already had been shown, it was said, by her strong protests to Great Britain against the action of that government in holding up and confiscating much of the parcel post passing between Sweden and the United States. This was followed by Sweden's act of retaliation in stopping all parcel post between England and Russia.

Norway and Denmark, on the other hand, feel that, bad as the situation is with respect to shipping, it might still be worse.

In considering the attitudes of the Scandinavian countries it must be borne in mind that in Norway and Denmark public sentiment greatly favors the allies, while in Sweden the majority sentiment appears to be pro-German. There are close ties of kinship between the reigning families of the two former countries and the royal family in England.

Hog With Six Legs.
Puenta, Cal.—While driving out a number of hogs from a pen on the Rowland ranch workmen in the employ of L. A. Meredith discovered that one sow was possessed of six legs. The animal has two extra forelegs perfectly formed, and all six legs are used by the animal in walking. Mr. Meredith says the two extra legs are just inside the "regular" forelegs and are somewhat smaller.
